I was all run down from nervousness and overwork and had to resign my position and take a rest. I found that I was not gaining my strength and health as fast as I could wish, and as your Wine of Cardui was recommended as such a good medicine for the ills of our sex, I bought a bottle and began using it. I was satisfied with the results from the use of the first bottle, and took three more and then found I was restored to good health and strength and able to take up my work with renewed vigor. I consider it a fine tonic and excellent for worn-out, nervous condition, and am pleased to endorse it.

The Crimson Visioned Cow

By EDWIN J. WEBSTER

Copyright, 1904, by Edwin J. Webster

Middleton is a great believer in the influence of mind over matter, but he is doubtful how far his theories may be applied to farming—at least where cows are concerned.

When the family moved to the suburbs Middleton determined to keep a cow. Everything went well until winter set in, when the cow, after the manner of her kind, did not give the accustomed supply of milk. This conduct of the cow's jarred upon Middleton's business instincts. He considered it pure laziness. The tousled headed boy whom he had hired to look after the cow explained that it wasn't bad heartedness on the part of the cow, but a lack of grass, that was responsible for the decrease in the Middleton milk supply.

"But she has plenty of hay," Middleton objected. "And hay is just as nourishing as grass."

"It ain't so green, do," persisted the tousled one. "Dere's mighty few things so green as grass. Do dere is some," he added reflectively.

Middleton took this last remark as a reflection on his own knowledge of farming. So he indignantly ordered the tousled boy to leave the barn. The boy slouched sulkily away, black wrath in his heart.

But the boy's remark had suggested an idea to Middleton.

"It's all imagination on the part of that cow to think hay is not as good as grass. If she supposed she was eating grass she would give as much milk as before, even if her food supply happened really to be hay."

"She may be a credulous cow," replied Mrs. Middleton in doubtful tones. "But how even your flow of persuasive words can make her believe hay is grass is more than I can see."

But Mrs. Middleton's incredulity did not decrease her husband's ardor in his plan for revolutionizing dairy farming. The next morning Middleton went to an optician and left an order for an unusually large pair of plain green glass spectacles. In the afternoon, gloating over his scheme for an increased milk supply, he marched triumphantly out to the barn. The cow didn't seem to understand why she should wear spectacles, as she had never made any complaint of failing eyesight. But after a little she became somewhat reconciled to them. Middleton kicked around some hay, so that it would look like grass though on the floor of the barn. Then he went back to the house to explain more fully to Mrs. Middleton the benefits which would accrue from his idea.

About an hour later the tousled headed boy entered the barn. The cow was eating the hay, but she certainly was a much puzzled animal. Her eyesight showed that it was green and it looked like grass, but it was dry and didn't in the least taste like grass. Now the tousled headed boy still cherished feelings of wrath. When he saw the spectacles on the cow he gasped with amazement.

"Blamed if dat guy ain't put glasses on dat cow to make her tink she is eating grass," he murmured.

Just then he happened to slip his hand into one of his trousers pockets. Among the usual treasures stowed away in a boy's pockets his fingers touched two pieces of glass. He drew them out. They were red and round and with a little trouble might be fitted into the rims of the spectacles the cow was wearing. And into the mind of the tousled one crept a suggestion of how he might have revenge on Middleton and a little fun on his own account.

"Cows ain't so fierce as bulls," thought the tousled one. "But dey don't like red a bit better."

He took the spectacles from the cow's nose, pushed out the green glasses and inserted the red ones. He replaced the red glassed spectacles. Then he hastily climbed into the haymow and awaited developments.

When the crimson spectacles were adjusted the cow's peace of mind instantly vanished. To the right, left, and in front was to be seen only the hated color, red. Her wrath was stirred. She made a charge at the crimson haymow. The only result was that she was thrown back, bruised and baffled. She glanced around in anxiety and terror, only to find that all the objects in the once familiar barn were the same odious color. Then she began a mad rush about the barn, mooing with all the force of her lungs.

The tumult aroused Middleton, who ran from the house and threw open the barn door. But when the cow saw a crimson man standing in the doorway her terror changed to wrath. Plainly here was the cause of all her troubles. She made a mad charge at Middleton. He side stepped with an agility which would have surprised his business acquaintances. The cow was unable to stop and thundered through the doorway. There she turned and prepared for a second charge. Just as Middleton was planning precipitate flight an unusually angry and vehement shake of the cow's head shook off the glasses. Things once more resumed their natural color.

The cow stood for a moment bewildered at the sudden change in her field of vision, then began to walk slowly back to the barn. Middleton saw that her rage was over, but was puzzled to account for it at all.

"Green is the color of a good part of the earth in summer time," he mused. "I don't see why green spectacles should affect a cow with sudden insanity."

Then he saw the spectacles lying on the ground. He picked them up. As he did so he noticed the red glasses. He understood what had happened.

"That young rascal must have changed the glasses. If I catch him I'll give him a lesson on the evils of interfering with experiments in scientific farming that he'll remember the rest of his life."

The tousled headed boy, hidden in the haymow, wisely gave no indication of his whereabouts. Middleton adjusted the green glasses and tried to replace them on the cow. But that particular cow had lost all she cared for of spectacles of any sort, whether provided with red or green glasses. She shook her head in such a threatening manner that Middleton finally abandoned the attempt.

"A scientific experiment that might have made a revolution in dairy farming spoiled by the malice of a red-headed boy," he sighed as he trudged back to the house.

Would Not Miss His First Chance.

They had been talking about Englishmen of title who took up useful work. Somebody mentioned Lord Ross, a master of engineering, and then somebody else told this story:

Lord Ross having once, unknown to the employees, entered the engine room of a large manufactory, the engineer's attention was attracted by his odd behavior.

"Well, what's up now?" he growled at the peer. "What are you shaking your head and pulling out your watch for? What have you got to find fault with anyhow?"

"Oh," replied Lord Ross, "it is all the same to me. I have got no fault to find. I am just waiting till the boiler explodes."

"The boiler explodes? Why, you are crazy, man!" exclaimed the engineer angrily, preparing to turn the peer out as a dangerous crank.

"Well," retorted the earl, "if you work ten minutes longer with that loose screw there the boiler will certainly explode."

The engineer, gazing in the direction indicated by Lord Ross, paled and jumped to stop the engine.

"Why didn't you say so sooner?" he blurted out.

"Why should I?" answered the peer. "I never yet have had an opportunity of seeing a boiler explode."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Curios About Respiration.

In each respiration an adult of the human species inhales one pint of air. A healthy man will respire 16 to 20 times per minute, or say, 20,000 times a day; a child, 25 to 35 times per minute. While standing, the adult average respiration is 22 times per minute; lying down, 13 times. The superficial area of the lungs—that is, of their alveolar space—averages 200 square yards. The amount of air respired each day is abou 10,000 quarts.

The amount of oxygen absorbed in the same length of time is 500 liters or about 744 grams. The amount of carbonic acid expired in 24 hours is estimated at 511.5 grams. Two-thirds of the oxygen absorbed in 24 hours is taken in during the 12 hours from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m., three-fifths of the total being thrown off during the day. While this is going on the pulmonary surface is throwing off 150 grams of water in the shape of vapor. The heart sends 800 quarts of blood through the lungs every hour, or about 5,000 quarts daily.

The duration of inspiration is five-twelfths, of expiration seven-twelfths, of the whole respiratory act.

"Relics" of Waterloo.

The last time Victor Hugo went to Waterloo he saw some Belgian bumpkins discharging old firelocks at the walls of a freshly whitewashed farmhouse—La Ferme du Caillou, if I remember rightly. As he saw no target he asked why they did this. An elderly man of prosperous appearance, with a broad grin showing gaps in the teeth, said, "It is for the tourists."

"How for the tourists?"

"You see, the premises began to look out of repair and the house untidy. I had fresh plaster and whitewash put on. We are now making bullet marks to show the excursionists whom the old sergeants take round," and then, grinning more broadly: "You are a Frenchman and do not believe in relics. The English gape at them and buy them as fast as we can have them manufactured and write about them in notebooks."—London Truth.

Do Men Outlive Their Usefulness.

THE question as to whether men past forty and sixty are useless has been discussed so freely since the author of the expression published his version that the subject is almost trite.

There has been a storm of indignation among those who seek to answer the physican's statement. Most every one agrees that the idea is all bosh and so it is if we take the statement literally and for the general rule. If the declaration were modified one might forgive its author but to make such a sweeping statement is folly and it bears the tag of cheap notoriety. A man scarcely ever heard of before becomes the subject of endless discussion. He has been enabled through his absurd statement to jump into public prominence. True he is dubbed a fool but the advertisement of his name is none the less effective.

To go back to the question as to the utility of man after he is forty years of age, we believe that a man of that age and even the individual of sixty is often of the greatest utility. The greatest life work is oftimes never conceived of, let alone finished, until a man is ripe in experience. The precocious youth of this age, however, has set the standard of doing things earlier in life. The educational advantages that we offer today supply the youth with knowledge which could only come to other generations through years and years of experience. So the man of today is fitted earlier in life for the world's work. This has had the tendency to crowd out the older men in the business world. The young man is constantly superseding the elder in commercial circles. There is a lesson being learned from this very tendency — put yourself in a position while young to be an employer when old that you may kick out and not be kicked out. The man who is employed by another unless he is financially fixed loses his prestige in the business world as he becomes old. This is very often not due to any mental imperfections but to physical ear marks. There is unquestionably sentiment against employing old men.

But no matter how old a man is there is something more in life for him than the approval of the business world. All are not depending on that for happiness or contentment and yet if a man be successful the world does not care whether he is twenty-five or fifty-five. The successful author wins no less praise if he be past the meridian of life. To the successful, age has little terrors, but to the plodders it is attended with some fears. The sweeping statement, however, that all men between forty and sixty are growing useless is none the less false. To reiterate, many of the world's greatest men have not won their laurels until late in life.

If great work can be done while we are young so much the better, but youth is generally but the preparation for real life. There is but one virture in the absurd statement which is the subject of this article, it is a spur to those still in youth's prime and a reminder that "procrastination is the thief of time." Let us do our best while we can. We may never live to enjoy and reap the benefits of the experience of mellow age. Let not the fear of old age assail you for we do not all attain it. Those who are already old have much experience but to profit by it is another matter and by that standard will be judged wise or foolish.

A young fool is excusable but an old fool never. A man rich in experience may be of the greatest utility in the world if he profits thereby but he is poor indeed and merits Dr. Osler's extreme penalty if he does not.

Japanese Immigration.

THE agitation against Japanese immigration is well founded and the Chronicle in its series of articles on the subject is expressing the sentiment of the majority of the people and giving us facts and figures which have opened the eyes of many who failed to realize the gravity of the situation.

Japanese labor is infringing on our territory—in the fields, the shops and homes. It is a cheap labor but far from satisfactory and so really not cheap if we figure on results instead of output. Chinese labor was cheap but the Chinese did better work. We restricted Chinese immigration, which was not so obnoxious or menacing as that of Japanese. The Chinaman did not crowd our schools, as do the Japs, nor threaten to compete for social and educational equality.

The former is appreciative and faithful when good, but the latter has not a vestige of appreciation. The Japs in this country are here to look out for themselves—to get our money and learn our ways. They are in reality spying on our civilization. America is altogether too tolerant of the immigration let alone this Asiatic type. The government of Japan will give the American no such advantages as her subjects get here. She apes America in everthing else but is smart enough to reserve the hospitality of the government for her own subjects and not for foreigners

Almost any immigration is better than that which Japan dumps on American shores. The subjects which hail from monarchies and empires and take refuge here, even though they be anarchists in temperment, are more to be relied on for allegiance than the subjects of the Mikado, who glory in their allegiance to their Emperor and can never be loyal to America or adopt our flag.

From every standpoint Japanese immigration is a menace. We have admired the adroitness of the Japanese at first, just as an indulgent parent admires the cute tricks of a naughty child, but even as that parent will see his tolerance of the cute tricks grow into habits, so the Japanese have meanwhile burrowed into our country and undermined our safety. They seemed so little and inoffensive, but what they lack in size they make up in numbers. It is the numbers that we must re-

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as Ordinance No. 78.

An Ordinance of the City of Sonoma, granting to S. Schocken and Oscar T. Weber, their heirs and assigns, the right to construct and equip, and for the period of twenty-five years to operate and maintain an electric street railroad upon certain streets in the City of Sonoma, and prescribing the terms, conditions and obligations thereof.

The Board of Trustees of the City of Sonoma do ordain as follows:

Whereas, all acts, conditions and things precedent to the granting of the franchise and grant hereinafter set forth, have heretofore happened, been done and performed in due form of law and in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act providing for the sale of street railroad and other franchises in municipalities, and providing conditions for the granting of such franchise by legislative or other governing bodies, and repealing conflicting acts, which became a law under constitutional provision without Governor's approval, March 11th, 1901," as amended by sections two (2), five (5) and seven (7) of said Act, approved March 6th, 1903.

Section 1. That a franchise for the term and period of 25 years be and the same is hereby granted to S. Schocken and Oscar T. Weber, their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, to construct, equip, operate and maintain a single-track street railroad, together with all and singular the tracks, switches, spur tracks, side tracks, turntables, turn-outs, poles, trolley wires, cross wires, feed wires and poles, appliances and appurtenances necessary thereto and therefor along, over, across and upon those certain streets and highways in the city of Sonoma, in the county of Sonoma, State of California, and within the corporate limits of the city of Sonoma, as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at the North end of Second-street East or Berryessa street, at the North boundary line of the corporate limits of the City of Sonoma, thence southerly along said street to its intersection with Spain or Vallejo street, thence westerly along said Spain or Vallejo street to First-street East, thence southerly along First-street East to Napa or United States street, thence westerly along Napa or United States street to Broadway, thence southerly along Broadway to Jackson or Germany street and the South boundary line of the City of Sonoma.

And commencing at the intersection of Broadway with Napa or United States street, thence westerly along Napa or United States street to its intersection with West Fifth-street and the West incorporated limits of the city of Sonoma.

Section 2. The terms, conditions, restrictions and limitations under which said franchise and the rights, privileges, permits and immunities thereby conferred and granted are as follows, to-wit:

First—The street railroad constructed and operated under this franchise shall be used for the transportation of passengers, freight, express matters and mails of the United States.

Second—That during the period of construction of said street railroad, such construction shall be carried on with the least possible obstruction to and interference with the traffic upon said streets and the owner of said franchise will obey all reasonable regulations of the Board of Trustees in respect thereto, and that all work in connection with this railroad shall be done in a good and workmanlike manner.

Third—That immediately after the construction of said tracks shall have been completed, the streets occupied thereby shall be restored to as good condition as the same were before such construction, (the presence of the tracks alone excepted), said tracks to be as near the center of the streets as convenient. And that where the driveway of any street is too narrow to allow vehicles to comfortably pass cars going along the tracks, the owner of said franchise shall build the driveway outside the tracks up to the proper grade of the roadbed of the street enough so as to give ample room for vehicles to pass along each side thereof.

Fourth—That the highest and best style or type of rails used in street railroad construction may be required to be used, in the discretion of the Board of Trustees, and that cars are to be supplied to carry passengers and freight for the general public; said cars to be propelled by electricity furnished by overhead wires or other power that is now or may be allowed by law and approved by the Board of Trustees of the city of Sonoma, except steam or animal power, said wires to be not less than 16 feet above the level of the street; the poles to be set where they will cause as little inconvenience to the property-owner as possible. That the privilege to use free of charge two feet of the top of any pole erected in the construction of said electric railroad shall be given to the city of Sonoma for the purpose of stringing wires thereon to be used in connection with a police system, telephone, telegraph, electric lights or fire alarm system during the term of this franchise, and the right to go upon said poles at any time to repair or replace the same; said wires to be so strung as not to interfere with the proper operation of said franchise.

Fifth—That the tracks shall be laid level with the surface of the street and upon the established grade thereof, which grade may be changed at any time by the Board of Trustees, and when so changed, said railroad tracks shall conform thereto.

Sixth—That the owner of said franchise shall construct all necessary flumes, culverts and drains for the free passage of water under the tracks.

Seventh—That the city of Sonoma, in granting this franchise, expressly reserves the right to pave, macadamize, renew or sewer any of said streets, or to lay gas, water or other pipes therein, said work to be done so as to injure said road as little as possible.

Eighth—That the owner of said franchise will keep in good repair the portion of the street occupied by the railroad tracks and a space of two feet on each side thereof and between tracks if there be more than one; and when any street so occupied is ordered to be graveled or regraveled, macadamized or remacademized, paved or repaved, or in any other way ordered to be improved, the owner of said franchise shall perform such street work over and in respect to the portion of such street so occupied, together with a space two feet wide on each side thereof; and where the work is not performed to their satisfaction the City Trustees may in their discretion make such repairs and renewals after due notice thereof shall have been given, to make the roadbed and two feet on each side thereof conform to the requirements of this franchise, the cost of which shall be a lien on the property of the railroad operating under this franchise at the time of such renewals or repairs.

Ninth—That the railroad operating under this franchise assumes all responsibility for damages, accidents or like responsibility for damages that may be occasioned by the carrying out of the rights and privileges hereby granted by this franchise.

No percentage shall be paid for the first five years succeeding the date of said franchise, but thereafter such percentage shall be paid annually, and this franchise is to be forfeited by a failure to make the payments provided for. Provided, that if the road for which this franchise is granted shall be an extension of an existing system of street railroads then the gross receipts shall be estimated to be one-half of the proportion of the total gross receipts of said system which the mileage of such extension bears to the total mileage of the whole of said system, and said estimate shall be conclusive as to the amount of the gross receipts of said extension.

That if the road for which this franchise is granted shall be operated by said grantee, its successors or assigns, in connection with or as a part of a system of interurban street railroads, then the gross receipts shall be estimated to be that proportion of the total gross receipts of the whole of said system of urban and interurban street railroads, which the mileage of the road for which this franchise is granted bears to the total mileage of the said whole system, and said estimate shall be conclusive as to the amount of the gross receipts arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise.

Any neglect, omission or refusal by said grantees, their successors or assigns, to file said verified statement, or to pay the said percentage of said gross annual receipts at the times, or in the manner hereinbefore provided, shall ipse facto work a forfeiture of the franchise herein granted and of all rights thereunder, to the City of Sonoma.

Section 3. That any neglect, failure or refusal to comply with any of the conditions of this franchise shall thereupon immediately, ipse facto effect a forfeiture thereof, and the said city, by its Board of Trustees, may thereupon declare this franchise forfeited, and may exclude said grantees, their successors or assigns from the further use of the streets of said city under this franchise, and said city under their successors or assigns shall thereupon and immediately surrender all rights in and to the same and this franchise shall be deemed and shall remain null, void and of no effect.

Section 4. The said grantees, their heirs, executors, administrators, successors or assigns shall file with the Clerk of the Board of Trustees of the City of Sonoma his acceptance of this franchise immediately after the publication thereof.

FOUNTAIN BID HAS BEEN AWARDED

Wm. Trudgen Will Erect Handsome Improvement For Woman's Club.

At a special meeting of the Sonoma Valley Woman's Club last Saturday afternoon bids were opened for the erection of the fountain on the plaza. Wm. Trudgen was the only bidder, his figure being $230. After some discussion the bid was accepted. The fountain will be a handsome improvement and after a plan drawn by A. C. Lutgens, the San Francisco architect. It will be built entirely of stone, hand cut and will be a combination drinking fountain and watering trough.

The Woman's Club will give an entertainment and dance immediately after Lent. Something unique in the way of entertainment is promised.

New Advertisements.

The attention of our readers is called to the new ads in this week's issue.

Mr. E. J. Breitenstein, the new harness maker, wants a share of the public patronage. His shop is located on First street East nearly opposite the Postoffice. Mr. Breitenstein comes to Sonoma highly recommended as a first-class and obliging harness maker and will no doubt build up a good business here.

Dr. A. E. Byron, formerly a successful practictioner of Foresiville, has taken offices in the Dal Pogetto new stone building, and his professional card will be found elsewhere in these columns.

The old and reliable schooner "Four Sisters" will make trips to and from San Francisco as follows: Will leave Embarcadero for San Francisco every Tuesday, returning every Wednesday until further notice. Capt. Hauto, the owner, will be on deck and will be pleased to receive all freight orders.

Card Club Entertained.

The Card Club was delightfully entertained last Friday night at the pretty home of Mrs. Enos on Broadway. After several games of cards Dr. Estes was awarded the first gentlemans prize, a handsome and unique sofa pillow on which were embroided the names of all the members of the club and a pretty forget-me-not design. The doctor gallantly presented the pillow to the hostess, Mrs. Enos, stating that it was most appropriate that it should be her's after the many delightful evenings spent by the club at her home.

The booby prize was won by Prof. Lewis and consisted of a miniature stein bearing the following inscription:

"This little stein
Take it for thine,
And if you feel right badly
Fill to the brim,
And drink to him
Who put you out so sadly.
A little brace
Just take with grace.
'Tis our approximation;
The best of life,
Remember this,
Is but intoxication."

A delicious repast was served during the evening and the meeting was counted one of the most delightful ever spent by the card club.

Has Located Here.

Dr. A. E. Byron has sold to J. E. Jewett the building in which is located the drug store and doctor's office, taking in part payment a lot on Center street, which he immediately sold to Mr. Alton of Sebastopol, who will at once build upon it. Dr. Byron has also sold his office and fixtures to Dr. F. N. Folsom of Windsor, who will take possession of the office and Dr. Byron's practice about the 15th prox., at which time Dr. Byron will leave here.—Forestville corr. Windsor Herald.

The doctor has taken offices in Dal Pogetto's new building on Napa street, which he will occupy next next week. He will arrive in town with his wife and baby the coming week and will take up his residence on Broadway.

TRUSTEES PASS FRANCHISE TO PRINT

At Their Meeting Wednesday Night Saloons and High License Were also Discussed.

At the regular March meeting of the City Trustees on Wednesday night after the reading and approval of the minutes the following claims were allowed:

H. Pooler, fixing hydrants, etc	$5.00
Jas. H. Albertson, salary	15.00
P. G. Keil, pipe and hydrants	16.50
C. E. Johnson, freight	1.70
Sonoma Valley Co., lights	35.00
Sonoma Water Works, three months service	45.00
Total	$117.90

A $2 rebate was allowed to James Ruffner on a $3 license in lieu of his having sold out.

A petition with fifty signatures affixed thereto was presented by Peter Yenni, asking the Board to limit the number of saloon licenses and to issue no more until the present number was reduced.

President Poppe then raised the point that the town revenue would be decreased if the saloons were lessened, but Mr. Yenni assured the Board that all the present saloon men would be prepared to pay a higher license if neccessary.

The sentiment of the Board was plain in regard to saloons and high license. Breitenbach declared that he did not believe in giving a few saloons a monopoly. Trustee Poppe maintained that the proposition was an old one and had been handed down to them from the time of Noah, but the gentleman failed to explain why he looks so young if that problem has been hanging fire so long.

Breitenbach proposed that seventeen saloon licenses be sold to the highest bidders every two years and declared that the more saloons we have the better off the town.

Poppe declared that to take any action in the way of limiting saloons would be illegal, dubbing such action as class legislation.

Both Trustees Poppe and Breitenbach said that they did not believe in raising the license.

Trustee Hotz declared that at present the saloon license was ridiculously cheap. Mr. Hotz also asked why the Board was never consulted in session in the granting of saloon licenses. He said that he never heard one word when saloon licenses were allowed and asked for an explanation of the proceedings. It developed that the matter is brought before the City Attorney and President of the Board instead of the entire Board, and Mr. Hotz was referred to the charter as to whether or not the procedure is correct. The petition was finally laid on the table.

The contract for street lights was renewed for another month.

The ordinance for the electric railway was passed to print with an amendment limiting the time for starting of work to six months instead of four and the time for completion to two years instead of one.

Wm. Trudgen was granted the privilege to buy any surplus rock left from the quarrying of the fountain rock at 25c per load, subject to the approval of the street committee.

Marshal Albertson was instructed to be particularly strict in rounding up cows which are turned out on the streets.

The matter of street sprinkling was discussed at some length.

GRANTED ALIMONY PENDING DIVORCE CASE.

Pending the settlement of the suit instituted by Minnie B. Tenney for divorce against her husband John Tenney, the Court has ordered alimony of $50 a month beginning February 15, $25 expenses and $50 attorney's fees.

Mrs. Tenney and her child are stopping at the Union Hotel.

The divorce suit is the outcome of differences between Tenny and his wife over the presence of another woman in their home and sensational allegations were made in the complaint filed by Mrs. Tenney.

The Passing of a Noble Woman.

It is fitting that every paper in the State of California should say a few words in tribute to that noble woman, Mrs. Jane Lathrop Stanford, who came to such an untimely end in Honolulu this week.

Mrs. Stanford was a woman of grand character and the highest ideals. Her whole life has been one of devotion to her fellow beings and in that splendid university which stands today at Palto Alto is a monument which will long endure as a commemoration of her philanthropy. There is more than that, for in the founding and endowment of that college we not only praise the generosity of Mrs. Stanford but also her devoted loyalty to her son in whose memory the institution was reared. There is a pathetic note in this and the university which was a memorial to the son in the mother's lifetime will now be a commemoration also of her love and bounty. The whole State mourns its loss and if a dastard's crime has been the cause of our mourning may the venegeance of Heaven come upon the perpetrator if the laws of the land fail to punish.

The lowliest creature may die in peace but even this small privelege was denied the noble benefactress who has passed away.

ANSWER FILED IN CLEWE CASE

Electric Co. Declares Employee's Injuries Were Due to Neglect.

An answer was filed in the Superior Court on Wednesday in the suit brought by Ernest Clewe against the California Central Gas and Electric Co. to recover damages for alleged injuries sustained while the plaintiff was in the employ of the Co. and was at work repairing the defendants potential line near this place. The company denies that it was responsible for the injuries which Mr. Clewe suffered and alleges that if he was injured, it was by reason of his own negligence and that they were not responsible for the accident.

Mr. Clewe is suing for $5,000 damages and declares that the current was turned on at Napa although the Co's agents had been notified and promised to keep it turned off until he was through repairing the line.

Miss C. Bulotti, formerly of this place, was married in San Rafael last Sunday to Mr. Albertini.

When Binning "Did the Elegant"

By W. BERT FOSTER

...Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure...

It was a fierce play. But there sat Binning, with a beautiful smile on his face and applauding harder than the ushers.

I turned upon him when the curtain went down and said crossly, "Did you ever see such rot?"

"Is it? I didn't notice," he replied, still smiling. "Fact was I was thinking of the first time I ever came to this old ranch. And, oddly enough, I sat in this very seat. My goodness, how time does fly!" he added, with the air of a man discovering a heretofore unknown fact.

"Tempus certainly fugits," I remarked, settling back to hear. "But go on with the tale."

"Ah, and it is a tale—a tale of woe," he returned. "It happened a good bit ago, too; not long after I came down here to the city, believing in my greenness that I could cut a swath in law that would lay over anything I could do in the plow making line.

"Dad got me a chance with a good firm and then paid no further attention to me—financial attention, I mean. I was as lonely as a strange cat at first, but after a few months one of the boys in the office introduced me to a rather nice family up town.

"There were three girls in the family, and as I had hardly spoken to a girl since leaving home this introduction seemed a godsend to me. But I've wondered since if my fellow clerk did not introduce me simply to make his own escape from matrimonial toils the easier. As my visits increased his decreased.

"It came to me finally that I could not continue to accept the hospitality they showed me without in some way returning it. I couldn't invite one of the girls out without taking the mother along, and in that case it would have been equal to a declaration of love in the eyes of the family. Germans are mighty careful that way.

"So it was up to me to treat everybody alike. And I was determined to do the elegant. I invited the bunch, daughters and mamma and papa, to go to the theater; bought six seats right in this very row.

"It pretty nearly cleaned me out. Six dollars was two-thirds of a week's salary, and after mentally figuring it up I decided that I would excuse myself after the show and let my guests go home alone. I could not afford even another round of car fares.

"Well, we rustled into our seats like a flock of pigeons, papa at one end and myself here on the aisle. After the first two or three numbers on the programme the waiters got extremely busy. To tell you the truth, I had not taken into consideration the fact that liquid refreshments were served, but I figured that I could stand one round for the crowd, even if I had to walk from the office to my lodgings several evenings to pay for it.

"So I suggested a drink to the girl next to me. She took me up with positively frightful alacrity and passed on the proposition to the others. I turned to beckon the waiter, intending to order six of those foaming glasses in an offhand manner, bound to impress the observer with the fact that I was the real thing.

"'Oh, Mr. Binning,' said the daughter next to me, 'I think I'll take a lemonade!'

"'And so will I, Mr. Binning,' said the second sister. The third and mamma followed suit. Whew! In those few seconds my collar wilted.

"Even the old man, evidently considering that I would be offended if he ordered beer, asked for something in the line of mixed poison that I knew plaguey well he'd never tasted. Then the waiter, with increasing affability, looked at me.

"It's a terrible thing to be a coward, Jack. I wanted to blurt out, 'Not with my money!' But I didn't dare, so I ordered the same mysterious drink that the old man had spoken for and saw the waiter hurry away with a feeling that he might as well bring the house officer back with him when he returned with the refreshments.

"Those six drinks would amount to $1.80, and I had just 75 cents in my pocket.

"All the impossible means of getting out of the entanglement raced through my mind. I couldn't even see what was going on upon the stage. The falling of the curtain and a burst of applause roused me.

"That waiter would be back soon. But there would be rather a long wait between the last and the next act. I must get away where I could think. My guests were chattering about the show, and I broke in on them.

"'Do you know what I've done?' I said to them with an air of candor. 'I've forgotten my keys, and my landlady locks up at 11 o'clock sharp.

"'While this wait is on I'll run over to the house and get them—it's luckily only a few blocks away. She's a peppery tempered old lady, and if I should ring her up late she might put me out in the morning.'

"'That is too bad, Mr. Binning,' says mamma. Her heart was opened. 'We can put you up overnight.'

"'I had a dozen reasons why I could not accept the hospitality offered. And all the time I feared that waiter would heave in sight with his tray of fancy drinks!

"I grabbed my hat. I dared not take my overcoat. 'I'll be back before the next turn,' I declared and rushed up the aisle.

"As I left my seat the stage manager came from behind the scenes and signaled the orchestra leader to stop. 'If Dr. Harrity is in the audience,' I heard him say, 'there is a telegram at the box office for him.'

"As I got into the corridor I saw a tall man in a tall hat make a break for the corridor too. I accepted a return check, but I didn't believe I should have any use for it, for where I was to find the balance of that $1.80 I did not know.

"When I reached the sidewalk there was the man in the tall hat, with a policeman, shouting for a cab. There was one standing across the street, but the driver was missing. 'He's in some saloon along here,' I heard the policeman say. 'I'll look for him, doctor.'

"'Find him, or I'll take the cab myself. I've got to get to Forty-third street instantly!' the physician cried. 'I'd give $5 to get there in ten minutes!'

The cop disappeared and the doctor ran across the street to be near the cab when the driver appeared. And I was right by his side.

"Five dollars! Why, at the minute, Jack, I'd have committed highway robbery for that sum!

"'You jump in,' said I to the doctor. 'I'll get you there. What's the number?'

"He gave me a look which assured me he knew I was not the driver of the cab, but he told me the number. 'I'll give you $5 if you're there in ten minutes,' he said.

"I expected to hear the officer or the driver of the turnout yelling at me to stop. But the doctor wasn't in the cab any quicker than I was up on the high seat. And I woke that cab horse up.

"Inside of the ten minutes we stopped before the number Dr. Harrity gave me. He was out and up the steps ringing the bell in a flash. For a second I thought the promised $5 was getting away from me and I had made a criminal of myself for nothing.

"I leaped down just as the door of the house opened. A man let the doctor in, but I seized his coat tails before he could disappear.

"The doctor tried to jerk away, but I hung on. 'Johnson,' he shouted to the serving man, 'give this fool $5 and kick him out!' But I didn't wait to be kicked after getting my grip on the fiver.

"You can bet that I wasn't to be hired to drive that cab back to the theater. I took a car down the avenue and walked calmly into the lobby just as the orchestra began to play the introduction for the first number after the intermission.

"As I passed in there were the officer and an excited cabman jawing each other, with a curious crowd about them. Evidently cabby blamed the policeman for the disappearance of his rig.

"I slid into this seat, Jack, just as the curtain went up. There were the glasses on the shelf in front of my guests, and I saw the waiter, rather anxious by now, hovering about.

"'Oh, I forgot to pay for these drinks,' I remarked and passed over the fiver with an air which evidently impressed the old gentleman at the other end of the row with my financial stability.

"He looked vastly relieved, mamma smiled again benignly, the girls gabbled, and I—well, you can bet I never tried again to do the elegant on $9 per week."

Gives Health, Vigor and Tone

Herbine is a boon for sufferers from anaemia. By its use the blood is quickly regenerated and the color becomes normal. The drooping strength is revived. The languor is diminished. Health, vigor and tone predominate. New life and happy activity results. Mrs Belle H. Shirel, Middlesborough, Ills., writes: "I have been troubled with liver complaint and poor blood, and have found nothing to benefit me like Herbine. I hope never to be without it. I have wished that I had known of it in my husband's lifetime." 50c. Sold by L. S. Simmons, prescription druggist, Sonoma, Cal.

A Chicago Alderman Owes His Election to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"I can heartily and conscientiously recommend Chamberlin's Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lungs," says Hon. John Sbenick, 220 So. Peoria St., Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign, I caught cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak aloud. In my extremity a friend advised me to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflammation had largely subsided. I took several doses that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I thank this medicine that I won my seat in the council." This remedy is for sale by Shoults & Co.

The mornings the past week have been foggy and the afternoons sunny and quite warm.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

The great success of this preparation in the relief and cure of bowel complaints has brought it into almost universal use. It never fails, and when reduced with water and sweetened is pleasant to take. It is equally valuable for children and adults. For sale by Shoults & Co.

The Winter Route East.

When you think of going East, think of the Texas & Pacific, the true Southern Route, as it is called.

We can plan for you an ideal Winter trip through the fertile San Joaquin Valley or down the picturesque coast line of the Southern Pacific via Los Angeles, journeying through the beautiful Orange and Olive groves of Southern California, getting a glimpse of the Old World civilization of Old Mexico en route and on through the cotton fields of the Southland.

Pullman and Tourist Sleepers to St. Louis and the East; a new and excellent dining car service—meals a la carte; stopovers to visit the famous Hot Springs of Arkansas if desired.

Advice From the Gallery.

A correspondent of the London Chronicle tells of an incident he witnessed in the theater of the Crystal palace, where Cardinal Manning was addressing an immense meeting of members of the League of the Cross, a temperance organization which was very near his heart. "I will confess to you," he said, with that mixture in his manner of playful and the paternal which his Irish children loved, "that I do not practice what I preach. I am not a total abstainer myself, because my doctor won't let me be one." At once a voice came from the topmost gallery, "Change your doctor!" "Thank you for the hint, my friend," promptly said the cardinal, "I will." What is more, he did, with the result that he was a teetotaler ever afterward, refusing all stimulants, even in his last illness.

Fruit tree pruning is still in full swing in this valley. The outlook for a good crop is promising.

Invaluable for Rheumatism.

I have been suffering for the past four years with a severe attack of rheumatism and found that Ballard's Snow Liniment was the only thing that gave me satisfaction and tended to alleviate my pains. March 24, 1902. John C. Degnan, Kissman, Ills. 25c, 50, and $1.00. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

The Supervisors meet next Monday, March 6th.

Safe Cough Medicine for Children

In buying a cough medicine for children never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is always sure to follow. It is especially valuable for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by Shoults & Co.

Cured Consumption.

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Charwater, Kan., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago and since we have always kept a bottle in the house. We cannot do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal. 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by L. S. Simmons, Sonoma, Cal.

Champion Liniment for Rheumatism.

Chas. Drake, a mail carrier at Chapville, Conn., says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the champion of all liniments. The past year I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulder. After trying several cures the storekeeper here recommended this remedy and it completely cured me." There is no use of anyone suffering from that painful ailment when this liniment can be obtained for a small sum. One application gives prompt relief and its continued use for a short time will produce a permanent cure. For sale by Shoults & Co.

The Best Cough Syrup.

S. L. Apple, ex-Probate Judge, Ottawa Co., Kansas, writes: "This is to say that I have used Ballard's Horehound Syrup for years, and that I do not hesitate to recommend it as the best cough syrup I have ever used." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by L. S. Simmons.
